

What is happening in world economy and why we should act now.

Markus Andersson, Andersson Family Foundation

2021-03-22

Over the last year, people started to notice a new movement in world economy. Tools of trade, that till recently have been kept in the hands of financial elites, are now available for the general population. The monetary value of Bitcoin has risen by over 1000%. Warren Buffet recognised and described Bitcoin as “rat poison” and somewhere and somehow he might be right, as cryptocurrency and its underlying technology have the potential to threaten the current economic model. We are experiencing huge changes in the structure of wealth management and that is why it is important to be very cautious about the coming changes in world economy.

Since the outbreak of the Covid-19 pandemic, the amount of printed FIAT currency by the Federal Reserve has been enormous and it is told that it might be up to 22 % of the total circulation of US FIAT dollars ever produced. These are tremendous debts. Those debts will, as we all know, have to be repaid by someone.

The very purpose behind the ventures of the family foundations lending arm is to attract and support new and young talent into scalable, hopefully global, ventures.

The problem with payments and trust

One of the absolute most important ways to enable users and future clients to do fair trades and purchases, is to enable them to find a consensus on the network. We are taking financial decisions everyday, actively seeking out for security and comfort with joining certain financial communities. Such as banks, insurance companies, P2P networks etc. Those new mini networks are created since we first now have entered a very advanced module of technology called consensus mechanisms. It is the very deepest code of the network, it comes with instructions that may be so profoundly coded that the mechanism might never stop. The usage of memory and the availability for us to build digital memory is enormous.

With that, we believe and look into new ways of trading. The foundation's investment venture capital investing group has started to fund a project called “Quantity” which is a very simple payment system that is based on red or green, disapproved or approved transfer. The biggest perks we saw as a foundation are transparency in payments, how fast and easy they can be made. We have also the ability to reach the people in the factory or the valleys where our products have been grown.

Lastly on a macro perspective, and what we mostly recognised in the world lately, is bigger demand for nearby, local and transparent distribution of wealth due to local production facilities and export unions. We believe that politicians should support locally invested financial aid, which will bring in jobs and tax profits. This has been seen for the last hundred years in our societies, smaller kingdoms and nations, brought towards a sophisticated and modern world.

In general we hope for a fast global recovery during 2022 and many new trade routes and payment systems on new markets. The private equity markets and venture capital investment funds markets are hopefully going to recover within a year or two.

We however believe in a fairly large increase in inflation rates for the coming years on most fiat currency capital markets. Investments in digital asset and decentralised structures, not necessarily crypto currencies, can be a long term success.

Financial instructions for new onboarding members and donors of the foundation:

Deposits, investment funds, and donations that are distributed as grants, and are taken and regarded as endowments are welcomed via bank transfer or crediting by our long-term partners at HSBC in Asia and JP Morgan Chase and Citibank in the U.S.

Best Wishes,
Markus Andersson

www.anderssonfoundation.com

markus@anderssonfoundation.com